

About Primis Online...

Primis Online is a database collection of modular, stand-alone text files that can be mixed and matched and then seamlessly arranged to create a book "on demand" for a particular course.

Our powerful higher education database gives you access to the world's best and most abundant resources at your fingertips. With a few clicks of a mouse, you can create customized learning tools simply and affordably. Select from McGraw-Hill's market-leading textbooks, cases, lab manuals, and create a text that is available in printed and eBook formats. We have millions of text pages for you to create the perfect book for your course.

Here's how it works:

- Simply go to <http://www.primisonline.com>
- Follow the four steps on the upper navigation panel to build your book (Select Content, Review and Arrange, Personalize, Request a Copy)
- Search our content by discipline
- Preview the actual text documents online
- Add the content you desire by clicking the "Add" button
- Choose a format—printed black and white texts or full color eBooks
- Add your own content by selecting "Upload your own content" and following the instructions to upload your electronic file
- Provide us with a full mailing address and we'll send you a complimentary copy for you to review. You are under no obligation or commitment to adopt when you create a book
